Ukrainian Dance concert an evening of delightful, colorful entertainment

Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club presented their 18th annual spring concert Saturday night, with 25 dancers ranging in age from four to 18 kicking up their heels to the lively traditional music.

A total of twenty dances were presented to the delighted audience, under the direction of instructors Tasha Kanasevich and Brad Walker, who agreed the dancers have done a wonderful job of learning their paces this year. "They have a lot of potential. It's just amazing," Waller said at the conclusion of the concert.

Following O Canada, led by Sue Bartholomew, the Juniors, Intermediates and Seniors started the concert with the traditional offering of bread and salt in the Pryveet. Steven Kozina, Travis Lindquist, Addison Vandermeys, Amanda and Michelle Zapesocki, Jasmine Brown, Brandi Grekul, Eva Gusnowski, Kirsty Lindquist, Charissa Brown, Kenna and Michelle Hillebrand, Kathy Kozina and Chantelle Maas made a colorful display with their costumes of various parts of the Ukraine.

A quartet of young ladies with the "Celebration" dance and the fast footwork of the senior girls in "Gathering in Bukovyna" were followed by a novelty number by Kirsty and Travis Lindquist and their small siblings, Brett and Kelsey, with the girls finding a cure for their bothersome brothers.

A fast paced Bukovinian duet by Michelle Hillebrand and Charissa Brown was followed by a dance by the youngest members of the crew: Hailey Casper, Caitlan Duffee, Alannah and Danya Dzerdz, Ryley Labant, Brett Lindquist, Sage Lowery, Adam and Nicholas Zapesocki and Sarah Zarowny. Chantelle Maas and Kenna Hillebrand performed a lovely "Spring Time" duet, followed by Brandi Grekul with an interpretation of the wheat fields of central Ukraine. The seniors' Transcarpathian Zabava, which won them a recent silver medal, and a quartet of "Small Kozachok", also silver medal winners, ended the first half.

A number of draws were made for prizes ranging from gift certificates to an oil painting during the intermission.

A duet by Jasmine Brown and Eva Gusnowski, "Divchata Hutzulka," Addison Vandermeys with a "Malenki Kozak," the senior girls with their "Volyn Divchata" and Alannah Dzerdz and Sage Lowery with a friendship dance showed the diversity of dance styles these young people learn.

"Carpathian Girls" Jasmine Brown, Brandi Grekul, Eva Gusnowski and Kirsty Lindquist did an energetic Hutzul dance, while Kathy Kozina stepped up the rhythm even farther with her "Jeto Mate." Alannah Dzerdz, Sage Lowery, Adam and Nicholas Zapesocki kept things lively with a "Kids' Polka."

Stephen Kozina, Travis Lindquist, Addison Vandermeys, Michelle and Amanda Zapesocki are new to the dances of the Hutzul region, but showed they were having a lot of fun with their final number. Jasmine Brown, Brandi Grekul, Eva Gusnowski and Kirsty Lindquist spun their way through the "Tropotyanka," while the senior girls wound up the program with their traditional kaleidoscope of color, the Hopak.

All the dancers were then called onstage, where they received flowers, pins, certificates and plaques. Michelle Hillebrand and Kathy Kozina, who have danced with the club for thirteen years, were presented with graduation gifts. Charissa Brown was recognized for her eleven years with the dancers, while Kenna Hillebrand received a ten-year pin.

Gifts were also presented to the instructors and to Ukrainian Dance Club president Iris Brown.

Open house highlights Education Week

Elk Point Elementary School hosted their annual Open House last Wednesday, as part of their Education Week celebrations. While the school's Education Week does not fall on the same dates as the province wide version, it does offer a variety of activities. This year, as always, the week kicked off with Monday's Pancake Breakfast, prepared by the staff for the students, and ended with the Jump Rope For Heart session on Friday morning.

Wednesday's open house was, as always, the high point of the week, with colorful displays in halls and classrooms, the beginning of the annual book fair in the library, and opportunities for parents and the public to meet the teachers and see what the students have been doing this year.

Wednesday was also Earth Day, and many of the hall displays reflected a sincere concern for the well-being of the earth, its forests, resources and environment.

A variety of artwork, which ranged from stained glass butterflies and rainbow-trailing clouds in the primary rooms to plasticene art and well-executed water color paintings by older students, also celebrated nature.

Nature of another form was on display in Mr. Hymanyk's room, where he proudly displayed his new 'pac-man' frog, tree frogs and huge turtles, one rumored to be over a hundred years old. Mrs. Conrad's students were eager to show off their meal worms, potato beetle, cabbage moth pupae and worm farm to visitors, along with an excellent 3-dimensional solar system centered by a three-foot diameter sun.

The library was the liveliest place in the school, as parents and children looked through the excellent selection of volumes available at the annual Book Fair, which continued for the balance of the week and ended this Monday.

WORM FARM WATCHERS -- Mrs. Conrad's students learn about nature first hand.

RETIRING AFTER 34 YEARS -- Viola Yarmuch (fourth from right) is retiring from the Toronto Dominion Bank, Elk Point, where she has worked since 1962, with only a one year break. She has worked with nine branch managers in that time and recalls the move from the old bank to the TD's temporary quarters in what later became Sew'N'Knit. "We carried the money and safety deposit boxes down the street with a police escort." Mrs. Yarmuch's co-workers and customers wished her well during her last day of work, and passed on their good wishes as they enjoyed cake and coffee.

Lioness need new site for recycling trailer

Elk Point and District Lioness Club is looking for a new home for their recycling trailer, which must be moved from its present location as soon as possible.

The recycling trailer has, to date, kept 80,000 kilograms of paper out of our landfills. The funds received by the Lioness from the sale of this paper are donated back to community groups for various programs and special events.

The trailer will be transported to Edmonton this month and the Lioness would like to have a new location for it when it returns. If any business owner or property owner has space they would be willing to volunteer to keep the trailer on, please call Lioness member Susan Frisby at 724-4337. The Club has two wooden bins that go along with the trailer. The club would like to keep the trailer within town limits for easy access, and also to avoid vandalism.

The Lioness would like to thank the community for bringing paper to the trailer and making their program worthwhile. They extend sincere thanks to Universal Bottle Depot's former owners Gary and Susan Fairbairn and current owners Glen and Heather Brovchenko for volunteering space for the trailer in the past. B & R Eckels transports the trailer to Edmonton each year, and thanks are extended to Doug Bassett and his crew for arranging this. The club also would like to thank all volunteers, including the Elk Point and District Lions Club members, other organizations and clubs whose members tidy up the paper trailer and unload the wooden bins, and their families and friends who have also helped.

Watch for the announcement of their new location in the near future.

4-H hobbyists show their achievements

Craft, woodworking and photography projects were on display April 19 when the 4-H Multi Club held their achievement day at F. G. Miller High School.

Junior crafters Nichole Havener, Austin, Nathan and Roseanne Jurak, Kirsty Lindquist, Dana Parenteau and Taryn Shankowski and senior members Erin and Marci Bintz and Michelle Leckie displayed binder covers, Christmas decorations and other projects, while woodworkers George and Peter Danyluk, Colin, Leanne and Mark Ference, Austin and Nathan Jurak, Kyle Kurek and Travis Lindquist displayed shelves, chairs, piggy banks, birdhouses and other well made items.

Nichole Havener also had her photography project on display.

The Danish judging method was used, with red ribbons for the top items and blue ribbons for those scoring five to seven points out of ten. Every woodworking member earned a red rosette for their work.

CRAFT MEMBERS earned praise from judges Olga Ockerman, Kim Kurek and Elena Drobot for their lovely displays.

WOODWORKING MEMBERS were praised by judges Marg and Walter Saranchuk on their well done projects.

Consideration at its best

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

With the "Weather Man" not being too sure what he wants to give us in that some days are nice warm dry days while other days are wet and cold, I thought what we all needed was to read some positive facts about people who have made their lives successful. I have taken these ideas from the books "Chicken Soup for the Soul."

Consider this: (1) Woody Allen — Academy Award-winning writer, producer and director — flunked motion picture production at New York University and the City College of New York. He also failed English at New York University.

(2) When Lucille Ball began studying to be an actress in 1927, she was told by the head instructor of the John Murray Anderson Drama School, "Try any other profession. Any other."

(3) In 1962, four nervous young musicians played their first record audition for the executives of the Decca Recording Company. The executives were not impressed. While turning down this British rock group called the Beatles, one executive said, "We don't like their sound.

Groups of guitars are on their way out."

(4) When Thomas Edison invented the light bulb, he tried over 2000 experiments before he got it to work. A young reporter asked him how it felt to fail so many times. He said, "I never failed once. I invented the light bulb. It just happened to be a 2000-step process."

I could go on with many more examples, but my point or thought is that from the many examples of people in our history who have become notable winners, the realization is that they won because they refused to become discouraged by their defeats.

We too can refuse to become discouraged by our changing weather conditions or what "just didn't work out right" today. There is tomorrow. As it can be said, "Go, take on a happy day!"

VALUED VOLUNTEERS — honored at the FCSS Volunteer Night included John and Anne Robertson, Hazel Hannah, Gabe Bayduza, Doreen Watson, Geoff Bishop, Louis Verhagen, Dave Yake, Lynn Proskiwi and Deanna Easthope.

FCSS honors volunteers for outstanding efforts

The Elk Point F.C.S.S. Department honored their large contingent of volunteers with a gathering on Wednesday, April 16 at which all volunteers received handsome certificates in recognition of their efforts. FCSS Director Deanna Easthope said that "volunteers are the people who plant the seeds of service — the harvest is what people receive." Mrs. Easthope and her assistant, Lynn Proskiwi, are also volunteers, and that fact was recognized by FCSS Board. Dave Yake turned the tables on the two and presented them with certificates, noting that "we appreciate your efforts a thousand times."

Door prizes and a tasty buffet lunch were also part of the evening. There were two winning entries in the candy jar contest, with both Rose Solway and Shiela Nelson guessing the closest to the actual count of 102 candy kisses. Both ladies received t-shirts, with Mrs.

Solway also receiving the jar of candy.

FCSS volunteers include Board members Dave Yake, Stacy Adams, Joanne Ference, Gabe Bayduza, Doreen Watson, Geoff Bishop, John Robertson (who with his wife Ann also delivers the FCSS Welcome Packages) and Louis Verhagen (who also is part of the Lend a Hand program), Community Channel programmer Faye Sommerville, Lend a Hand volunteer Grace Kinjerski, Babysitting Course instructor Deanna Fakeley, Meals On Wheels coordinator Olga Ruzycy and her drivers, Hazel Hannah and Rose Solway, office volunteer Diane Fraess, and Children's Services volunteers Darlene Kozicky, Linda Piotrowski, Myrna Fox, Peggy Adomaitis, Cheri Lindquist, Kim Kurek, Lois Sheplaw, Bev Peterson, Margaret Modin, and Peter Sherstan.

Let there be music!

Dear Editor,

I think that we should have more options such as music in our school. I feel that many people who may not be very academic can be proficient in other classes, such as music.

Having music in school may change the outlook of school to many people. One of a teenager's favorite things to do is listen to music, and if they are interested in one subject they may be better in the other classes.

Also, many people have a talent in music, although not many know it. It could be a change for people to find a hidden talent.

Last of all, it might be a good thing to know when you go to college or go to get a job. For Bachelor of Arts you need to get a good background.

I think that music should be offered in more schools around the district and I think it would be a good optional course.

Sincerely,

Brandon Parenteau

The Race

By Laura Antonio
Grade 1 (Home School student)

I am an 8-year-old AQHA sorrel mare. A little girl about seven years old bought me so she could ride me. Her name was Alissa. One day Alissa took me to the rodeo. She looked around and saw a horse race and she put my saddle on. Alissa got on me then the race started. I ran very fast and we won. Alissa won a fancy hat and I won a juicy apple. We went home and we were very happy.

Grade 5A ski trip

By Tyrell Bintz
Elk Point Elementary School, Gr. 5A

On Wednesday, February 26, 1997 the Grade 5A Class, along with the other Grade 5 class and Jr. classes from F. G. Miller, went skiing at Kinisoo Ridge. Every year the students in Grade 5 get to go on a ski excursion to Kinisoo Ridge. The Grade 5A class at Elk Point Elementary School raised money for their ski trip. The day was a huge success.

The Grade 5 students raised funds for their ski trip. They had a Christmas Stocking raffle. They sold tickets on a Xmas sock full of 100 loonies. Then the students brought in 12 bags of popcorn each to sell at school. They sold the bags for 50 cents each. The profits from their sales went to help pay for the ski trip.

The day of the ski trip was made to order, the sun was shining and there was lots of snow. The students said that they got to go skiing "right off the bat." A few of the students had to take lessons but most took to the slopes. It was reported that the snow conditions were great and the line-ups at the chair lift were short. No accidents from the Grade 5A class were reported. However, some students said there were several teachers skiing "out of control." Further to that they said the teachers were seen "laughing" and "flailing their arms" as they sped down the hill.

The Grade 5A class is already looking forward to their next field trip. They will be heading out to Camp Whitney sometime in June. It is not known if they will be having any more fundraisers but they probably will. The students appreciate all the people that help make their fund raisers and field trips possible.

Frog Lake School hosts Kermit's Karnival

By Renee Moyah
Grade 6, Frog Lake School

On Thursday, March 20th the Frog Lake School held their annual Kermit's Karnival. The Karnival started with a Floor Hockey Tournament. The team that won for Grade 4 to 6 was Mr. Singer's team. In the afternoon we all went outside to participate in the other events. There were Arm Wrestling, Nail Driving, Log Sawing, Indian Leg Wrestling, Tug of War (which my group couldn't play because the person in charge wasn't there) and Hockey Puck Score-O, Log Throwing and Pop Can Crushing. I, Renee, only won 1st place on Hockey Puck Score-O and 3rd on Leg Wrestling. I couldn't win the other events because there were grade seven girls there. Our supervisor who took us to the events and recorded our results was our secretary Lily Moyah. The Karnival concluded with a Jello eating contest and first place went to Terry Quinney. In this event, only one student was allowed from each class and one staff member. I represented the grade six class and I was full of Jello but I still had fun and a good time.

The K-4 to Grade 3 classes were in the gymnasium having different events during the afternoon. "Leap Up and Be Counted" was the theme of the Kermit's Karnival banner contest. The Grade 3 class of Mrs. Moyah won a cake for first place.

Elementary students "get the jump" on heart disease

By Eva Gusnowski
Gr. 6A, Elk Point Elementary School

Grades four to six are participating in the Jump Rope for Heart event on April 25th, at the Elk Point Elementary School gym. The purpose of this event is to raise money for heart research. The kids who enter get into groups of four to six and take turns jumping for three hours.

During this event, students may try to break records that have been set the year before. Even the teachers jump with the students. There is music played and even draws. The jumpers get snacks, but can also bring their own food. The parents can come and help with the food and records. The students can collect pledges from people who wish to donate. If kids collect a certain amount of money, they can get prizes such as stickers and shirts. But the main thing about this event is that many people have already had heart attacks. These attacks may leave them badly disabled, even kill them. The money people donate all goes to research on heart diseases, and may even help one of your loved ones to live.

HONORABLE MENTION:

Dear Editor:

I strongly disagree with the no-hat rule. A simple hat doesn't affect the learning abilities of the class. It doesn't interrupt the class. There isn't a difference between wearing a hockey jersey or a hat. It should be the student decision to wear a hat. Hats are not disrespectful in class but they are in formal events.

That custom is very old, our policy needs to be updated.

Sincerely,
Danny Cross

Music and poetry for Lodge volunteers

A pleasant evening of music and poetry awaited the numerous volunteers who gathered at Heritage Lodge on April 23 for a Volunteer Week celebration, beginning with a warm welcome from Tracy Kjenner.

Martha Meger opened the program by questioning where the term, 'golden years' came from, quoting such learned sources as Euripides and Shakespeare on the process of aging. She said that as a younger person, she herself had volunteered to help older people, and she knows from experience what a help volunteers are. "It's the Little Things," she told the volunteers in poetic format.

Margaret Lytle narrated a medley of songs sung by a group of Lodge residents, each lyric changed a bit to fit the singers and to occasion, such as "My Memory Lies Over the Ocean," "Take Me Out to the Card Game," "No Lonesome Me," and "Sentimental Journey," winding up with "Oh Give Me a Home Where the Volunteers Roam," and inviting the volunteers to join in on a chorus of "Let the Sun Shine In."

Resident Lyle Howe offered a poem about a "Broken Hearted Dutchman" while another resident, Harry Phillips, sang a wonderfully nostalgic "Springtime in the Rockies." Mrs. Jean Kinch entertained with a very apt poem about "Being Content," while Mrs. Meger and Mrs. Lytle sang two vintage duets,

"I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" and "I Don't Want To Play in Your Yard," to the enjoyment of residents and volunteers alike.

Door prizes were won by Rosalie Linkewich, Doris Pynten, Phyllis Zarowny, Stella Lorenson, Jill Hartley, Jane McKay, Florence Demchuk, Lena Kuziw, Catherine Christie Pell and Lorraine Linkewich. The evening concluded with an array of refreshments and lots of time for visiting.

HERITAGE LODGE RESIDENTS entertained their devoted group of volunteers with songs, poems and anecdotes at last Wednesday's celebration of Volunteer Week.

Parkview volunteers entertained

SONG SALUTE was offered to the volunteers by Debbie Lawrence.

Parkview Extended Care entertained a large group of their devoted volunteers last Thursday with a coffee party at which they were serenaded by songstress Debbie Lawrence, enjoyed a variety of tasty treats, had their tea leaves read by Sherry Pelech and their names drawn for a series of handsome door prizes.

The guests were welcomed by Carolyn Onusko, who says Parkview "has too many volunteers to count. These are only some of them." Many more were shown on the display of photos of volunteers in action.

Debbie Lawrence sang four numbers, including "Angels Among Us," which she declared fit the volunteers perfectly. The volunteers joined in to sing Happy Birthday to volunteer Violet McFadyen.

Winners of the door prize draws were Ray Hellquist, Hughie Krucik, Walter Saranchuk, Betty Radies, Stella Lorensen, Elaine Marceniuk, Marg Saranchuk, Alyssa Fry, Romy Rohner and Leanne Wilson. Junior high students Alyssa, Romy and Leanne are junior volunteers who come to Parkview each week and are eager to learn the various ways they can assist.

News from Jack and Jill Playschool

By Sha Tichkowsky
Instructor

Spring is here (at least that's what the calendar tells us) and things are starting to wrap up here at Jack and Jill Playschool. We have had a very busy year with our latest excitement being at Easter. On our last class before Easter break we had a small celebration. We colored some eggs using white wax crayons and egg dye — a sort of simplified Pysanka. We also had a visitor but we didn't get to see him. While we were out of the room, the Easter Bunny stopped by. He left us a note and some chocolate eggs hidden all over the classroom. What a guy!!

Now that the weather is warming up you may see us around town. We plan to take a few walks to see the change of seasons. Spring is new life in nature and we would like to see it evolve. We will also be taking in a few field trips. Thanks to Fins, Feathers and Furry Things for letting us come down and check out the animals on March 25. The experience was enjoyed by all.

We worked very hard on a special spring bulletin board in our classroom. The artwork was all done by the students and we are especially proud to show Mom and Dad. Our classes are large with 17 students in the morning class and 19 students in the afternoon class, so we need a big place to display our artwork.

As our year is fast coming to an end, we are planning a picnic wrap up. We want to go out to Stoney Lake and celebrate the end of school. Many of the fine details are in the works but we are looking forward to it just the same. We are also planning an open house on June 3rd so that new parents can get some information before the fall and have an opportunity to see the classroom and meet the teacher. Watch for an advertisement to get more information.

Well, I guess this will wrap it up for now. Honk and wave if you see us about town. We always enjoy friendly faces. Happy Spring from Jack and Jill students, teacher and executive board.

Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H news

By Joann Davies
Elk Point Saddle Slickers 4-H Light Horse Club

On Thursday, March 6th we held our monthly meeting. We all brought baking for a clinic held at the Elk Point Arena. Our Poker Rally is set for Saturday the 24th of May. At our meeting we watched a movie about safe handling of the horse. After we had all watched the movie we wrote down three things we had learned from it. The seniors helped the pee-wees at the meeting learn how to make a proper motion.

On Friday, March 14 we rode in the Elk Point Arena.

We are happy to announce that on Saturday, March 22nd at the Elk Point Bull-a-rama our goat raffle was held. Chris Shankowski won the goat, Travis McVeety won the pig and Vern Goad won the chicken. We thank everyone who supported this raffle as it was a big fund raiser for the club.

On Thursday, April 10th we held our monthly meeting. At the meeting Marion Ryan talked to us about the conformation of the horse. We also discussed the Fun and Furry Show, 4-H Expo, Highway Clean-up and our winter projects.

Saturday, April 26th we will be holding our next ride in Elk Point.

What's news at the library?

Three birthday cakes for one librarian!

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

I want to thank everyone who helped me celebrate my birthday last week, especially those who really surprised me at the library on Wednesday with cake and ice cream. Wednesday was Secretary's Day, Book Day and in the case of Elk Point, "Feed the Librarian Birthday Cake Day." I was buzzed on sugar all day from not one, but three separate cake occasions. Perhaps Marie Antoinette was thinking about Elk Point when she said "Let them eat cake!"

After all that dessert these new books will come in handy:

Fitting in Fitness by the American Heart Association contains several ways you can add exercise into your life without a lot of fuss.

Vagabond Fitness by Hank Schachte is a fitness book for travellers, or anyone looking for a simple, yet effective, way to exercise any place, any time.

More Heartsmart Coking with Bonnie Stern is yet another collection of helpful recipes from one of Canada's most popular cookbook authors.

And here are a few new offerings by some popular authors:

Just, that all-pervasive element in life, is the common thread linking a series of short stories in Timothy Findley's Dust to Dust: Stories.

Archy McNally is hired by the family of a well-to-do widow to investigate whether a Faberge egg the widow wishes to purchase is real, and runs into a lot more than he bargained for in McNally's Gamble by Lawrence Saunders.

Roommates from college reunite after twenty years at a ranch for the summer and rediscover their close friendship in The Ranch by Danielle Steel.

The story of Caesar and the women he loved and used comes to life in Caesar's Women by Colleen McCullough, another in her series about ancient Rome.

A young woman is caught up in a dangerous murder investigation and is forced to enter the witness protection program in Pretend You Don't See Her by Mary Higgins Clark.

Finally a couple of fine

choices in juvenile fiction:

Burl follows a grand piano dangling from a helicopter over the desolate wilderness and meets Nathaniel Orlando Gow, after which his life is never the same in The Maestro by Tim-Wynne Jones, winner of the Governor General's Award for Children's Literature.

A young girl, fleeing an unwanted marriage sets out on the Musengezi River to Zimbabwe and encounters danger and wonder along the way in A Girl Named Disaster by Nancy Farmer.
